

DOL NEWS

Blah Blah yeah I'm Nelson Knowles and you know what this is....

I'd like to start out the broadcast by congratulating Jonathan Creel on his 50th All Time Regular Season win this past week. This is a feat that only 5 have accomplished before him, none since 2011. This has truly been a dream season for Creel so far, currently sitting at an all-time best 10-1 record and just 3 wins away from what would be his first ever championship. Creel (below) graciously accepted the award at a DOL banquet that, in pure DOL style, also included dinosaurs for some reason.

Creel (cont.)

Creel inc issued this statement: "Thanks for recognizing my 50th win. I know critics will say that I took way longer than it should have, and they're right. I picked with my heart for a number of years and picked Brett Favre with my first pick. Regardless, this is my best year ever, with a total of ten wins so far. I'm pretty desperate for a championship at this point, but I've been pretty lucky so far this season. I guess, as my old man, the infamous Coach Creel says, "I'd rather be lucky than good. Thank you all again for the award."

CreelHath and Taf just will not lose. With wins last week both reached the 10-win threshold which is very rare in itself since going to a 12 week format, but two teams have only reached 10 wins one other time in DOL history (2009: Jacob and Hank). No team has ever gone undefeated in DOL history, and the 11 win mark has only been reached one other time by a 2005 Will Spencer led Mean Machine squad. While Creel nor Hathaway have ever reached the 10-win pinnacle, Taf has twice before (2006, 2011). Both Taf and CreelHath will have the opportunity to tie the All Time Record in Week 12.

We will skip the Breakdown this week and get into playoff scenarios right after this commercial break:

Playoff Scenarios

Ok, welcome back. Let's get right down to it.

Ladies and Gentleman this is the most important week in the history of DOL.

This is the final regular season week of the season and not only do we not have a division champion yet for either side, we don't have a clear #1 seed and we have 6 teams that are vying for 4 playoff spots.

Let's not even discuss the Division Championships, lets discuss just the Playoff scenarios.

So Here is how it stands:

IN: Taf, CreelHath

OUT: Hank, Weston, Nelson, BobZane

on the BUBBLE: Chad, Troy, Will, Jacob, Whitson, Ashton.

It's worth noting that Chad, Will and Whitson are all IN with a win.

Ashton is OUT with a loss because of his point totals.

Here is the breakdown and what everyone needs that is on the bubble:

Chad:

In with a win

In with a loss, and a loss by any two: Troy, Will, Jacob, Whitson, Ashton.

In with a loss almost no matter what, due to points

Troy:

In with a win, and a loss by any two: Will, Jacob, Whitson, Ashton

In with a win, almost no matter what due to points

In with a loss and a loss by Jacob AND Ashton

Playoff Scenarios (cont.)

Will:
In with a win
In with a loss, and a loss by: Whitson AND Ashton or possibly Troy and Jacob depending on points
In with a loss and a win by: Chad, Troy, Jacob, Whitson, and Ashton if points remain higher than two of them

Jacob:
In with a win, and a loss by any two: Whitson, Ashton or even Troy or Will depending on points
In with a loss, and a loss by any two: Whitson, Ashton or even Troy or Will depending on points
In with a loss and a loss by Whitson AND Ashton

Whitson:
In with a win
In with a loss and a Troy, Jacob, AND Ashton loss

Ashton:
In with a win and a Troy AND Jacob loss
Out with a loss

This is our current projection:

IN:
CreelHath
Taf
Chad
Will
Troy
Jacob

OUT:
Whitson
Ashton

Whitson missing the playoffs would be an almost guaranteed Choke of the Year Award at this year's DOL Award show. Three weeks ago we are talking about him being alone at #3 and 3 losses later missing the playoffs. Our Consultant Matt Sears, agrees.

Division Championships

Before we get into Division Championship scenarios, league offices have released the new DOL LIFE stickers for your trucks, Flomasters, or BMW's. These will be up on the league website soon.

Ok, lets get into the division championships.

The Blouses Division comes down to one thing...something that hasn't happened since Week 5 and something that has only happened once this year....Taf has to lose....well... and CreelHath have to win. If both teams win this week, Taf will take the division crown as he has not only scored the most points this year, but is dangerously close to setting the All-Time Record for points scored in a single season. The only chance for a division crown, something Creel nor Hathaway have ever accomplished, is for Discount Belichick to beat Nelson's Popped A Molly squad AND for Taf to lose to Troy's Racists. It is worth noting that Taf pulled out a one point victory the last time the two met in Week 8.

The Shirts Division Championship? wow. just... wow.

Shirts Division Champion:

Chad with a win

Will with a win and a Chad loss

Troy with a win, a Chad AND Will loss, and some points (-28 + his week 12 score)

Jacob with a win and a Chad, Will, AND Troy loss, AND a crap ton of points

Ashton with a win, a loss by everyone else, and about 300 points on top of his week 12 score. Good Luck Buddy.

DOL News (Cont.)

We received word that the owner of Cooper's KKKids and CEO of Troy, inc. contacted fellow owner Taf Bentley before this week's important matchup, inquiring if he was planning on resting his starters for the playoffs. His response?

"Hell no, I have records to break."

Needless to say, Taf sounds focused and hopefully it filters down to his players this week as he remains the favorite to win his second DOL Championship.

- Now sharing the Longest Single Season Win Streak (9) with Hank's 2009 Kobra Kai Me squad and Taf's 2011 Death Penalty team, CreelHath looks to move into the #1 spot alone and set the All Time Record with a win in Week 12.
- Taf's win last week pushed him into the #2 spot for the All Time Record for Most Points Scored in a season, ironically beating out Will's 2006 record (set before PPR) by less than a point. (.8 points). This is ironic because of how many games Will has lost this season by less than a point. Regardless, Taf is 116.2 points away from breaking his own All Time record set in 2011 at 1545.
- Taf and Creel Hath will need to win this week to set the All Time Record for Most Single Season Wins currently held by the 2005 Mean Machine (11). Both are currently tied for second with 9 other entries at 10.
- The top 5 All Time Regular Season Wins list has seen a little movement after this season. Hathaway's great season has propelled him past Troy and within 2 wins of rival Jacob Jordan, but with pending retirement look for him to never catch the leaders. As of Week 11 the current top 5 are:
1. Will (83), 2. Taf (71), 3. Jacob (67), 4. Bryan (65), 5. Troy (62)

All of the All Time Records can always be found on our website:

<http://www.dolhalloffame.com/alltimerecords.htm>

The All Time Records page has been updated: <http://www.dolhalloffame.com/alltimerecords.htm>
 Creel has been added to the Awards Page: <http://www.dolhalloffame.com/awards.htm>
 Creel's Trophy Case has been updated: http://www.dolhalloffame.com/trophyroom_creel.htm

The AWARDS

Christopher Walken High Score Award
 Jake From State Farm (Taf) 121 points

Rambo Knife Award
 My Jim Schwartz are Dirty (Ashton)
 Killed by 25 points by Taf.

Coach Mac Award
 My Jim Schwartz are Dirty (Ashton)
 left 60.5 points on the bench.

The POLL

1. Jake From State Farm (Taf)
 2. Discount Belichick (CreelHath)
 3. Luck Dynasty (Chad)
 4. Revis and Butt (Will)
 5. Bjoern To be Wild (Whitson)
 6. Cooper's KKKids (Troy)
- PLAYOFFS
7. Annexation (Jake)
 8. Jim Schwartz (Ashton)
 9. Justice (BobZane)
 10. 1.21 JJ Watts (Hank)
 11. Call Me Brady (Weston)
 12. Popped a Molly (Nelson)

PLEASE NOTE THAT DESPITE WHAT ESPN SAYS THIS WILL BE THE PLAYOFF BRACKET AND STANDINGS FOR DOL!!

Bryan and Taf's
 Power Rankings

1. Taf
2. Bryan/Creel
3. Chad
4. Will
5. Troy

These power rankings are based on a highly complex system of picking the top 5 teams we think are beast mode despite their places in the polls.

Press Conference (Weston)

Weston's Call Me Brady team struggles continued in Week 10, dropping their third straight and fourth out of five. Their 3 wins matches Weston's average over the past three seasons since posting a 10 win season in 2010. Attendance is down and so is moral at Weston, inc. He was found just after, what was later informed to us, his punching a whiteboard in Cooper's KKKids' Locker Room.

Press Conference (cont.)

Weston: "I think we need to get back to the basics, strong offseason programs, better draft evaluations. *sigh "

Reporter: "There are reports you've lost the support of your new city, which houses other big time DOL programs."

Weston: "My city still supports the team, but keeps questioning the moves I make like I'm the Cleveland Browns GM. Look at the Trent Richardson trade, good luck with those two yards per carry.. you know what.. I'm done."

Someone having an equally as frustrating season is Popped A Molly owner, Nelson Knowles. We send you to raving reporter David Roztropinski on site at V NECK STADIUM.

David: "sdlfkjasdlfkahsdlfkjasdlfkj"

Thank you David for that inspirational report. Until Next time, this is DOL News.