2013 PLAYOFFS

Hey.. Hey...Hey... this is your old pal Lil' Jakey. When they asked me to come and do an episode of DOL News and introduce the playoffs, I said sure right off the bat. It wasn't like I had anything else to do, Jacob is out eating Thanksgiving dinner with the other 5 who didn't make the playoffs, over at the local YMCA. I mean come on jacob, you couldn't even put yourself in position to come in second again. Man I had my playoff suit ready and my new playoff edition sneakers of AIR BRYANS and everything. COME ON MAN! Anyway, ladies and gentleman welcome to the 2013 DOL Playoffs....

Week 12 did NOT disappoint ladies and gentleman, the only thing that went as expected is Taf putting up a crazy amount of points and winning his 11th game of the season. Congratulations to Jake from State Farm who will take home his second division championship. I heard my boyz Bryan and Creel won't be claiming a share of the title despite beating Taf head to head and having the same record. They said they will NOT be pulling a Dabo Sweeney and Clemson and adding an asterisk.

Congratulations is also due to the 2013 Shirts Division Champion by default.... League newcomer, Chad Hunsucker and his Luck Dynasty squad. Chad took an absolute drumming (107.6-60.1) by Weston Lunsford but enough other people did too, so congratulations on your loss, here's your Division Crown...

ALL TIME RECORD WATCH

Seriously, this season was a record breaking season in multiple areas and week 12 did not disappoint in this area either. Congratulations to B-Hath and Creel. Their ridiculous Monday night comeback to slide by Nelson in what seemed like a locked up win in Week 12, allowed the duo to set the Longest Single Season Win Streak Record, taking the record shared by the 2009 Kobra Kai (Hank) and the 2011 Death Penalty (Taf) squads. The duo of Creel/Hath will also share the Most Single Season Wins record. This is a record that has been held since 2005 by Will Spencer alone until this season as Creel/Hath and Taf both tied it (11 wins) and will each take home the hardware.

Taf's Week 12 posting of 127.1 points secured him the All Time points record. His Jake from State farm squad beat out his own 2011 Death Penalty squad for the trophy.

These records, along with the Regular Season All Time Wins list has been updated over at the website, the hardware will be presented at the first annual DOL Awards next week.

THE DIVISIONS

Voting was held this past week and while Troy Jordan will retain the Shirts Division Presidential chair as well as a seat on the Unity Council for the 2014 season, Jonathan Creel will replace Weston Lunsford as the Blouses Division President and will now have a seat on the 2014 Unity Council as well. Let's go down to the Grand Canyon for the newly elected president's press conference.

Creel: "Wow guys I'm truly humbled that you elected me as your Blouses Division President. I just want you to know that your faith in me is well placed, as I have played under and coached with Jeff Larson for years. He even thought so much of me that he wanted me to "attack him full speed." I will approach this position just as he would, with a chop to the Adam's apple. I look forward to moving forward and maintaining the forward winning tradition of the blouses division. But I will not accept failure. You will train, and you will win if you are in my division....or you will die. Creel out."

League Management offices released a statement today regarding the ACC Tournament (formerly known as the Consolation Ladder).

"Bryan: As our partnership with ESPN states, there will be a "CONSOLATION LADDER". This format disrupts new league policy to have an ACC Championship tournament for the 6 teams that will not be playing for the DOL Championship. We have decided to alter the playoff matchups, so don't be surprised if on Tuesday of each week your matchups change. I will be keeping a separate bracket and will manually set the matchups each week. Thank you and have a wonderful Thanksgiving."

The Unity Council will be in session this week and the following will be topics to be voted on and discussed. If there is a topic you would like to see voted on and/or discussed please let the LM or any Unity Council member know.

- 2014 Hall of Fame
- Member Retention
- Two un-named teams traded between divisions
- New Scoring Point System. (2 POINTS FOR A WIN, 1 POINT FOR SCORING IN TOP 8, ANOTHER FOR SCORING IN TOP 4. 0-4 POINTS CAN BE EARNED EACH WEEK)

Playoff Matchups

With two teams having a BYE in Week 1, let's take a look at the 2 matchups in the race for DOL BOWL XI and the Kapowski Trophy.

The first matchup will be between the #4 and #5 seeds Revis and Buttfumble (Will) and Luck Dynasty (Chad).

League newcomer Chad is the lone team in the playoffs to not have won it all before. These teams are what many consider to be the 2nd and 3rd best teams in the league but with late season losses, including Week 12, these teams fell to the 4th and 5th seeds. Both of these rosters are loaded and can drop a new league record of points scored any given week so look for a big matchup this week. Will looks to be the most consistent favorite but Chad just needs one man to perform well to change all of that... Peyton Manning. The winner will advance to the final four to play the top seed Taf Bentley so good luck fellas.

Winning the Sherm at the Prom Award for scoring the least amount of points in a season doesn't usually land you a playoff spot, but this is not the case for Ashton's Jim Schwartz squad. Thanks to a surprising Week 12 win over BobZane, the defending champ squeezed in the #6 spot and will face off with Whitson and his Bjoern to be Wild team who is hungry for more success after a tough follow up last season to his 2011 DOL Championship. Whitson is a four point favorite in this and the winner will advance to play CreelHath for a spot in DOL BOWL XI. It's Whitson vs Ashton, it's Dez Bryant vs .... Colin Kaepernick? This looks to be a low scoring defensive battle here folks.
