

DOL CHAMPIONS

My Final Season

I'm here to announce my retirement from team ownership at the end of the 2013 season. Mentally, I'm exhausted; I don't feel I have a challenge. Physically, I feel great.

I've accomplished everything I have set out to do. I've won multiple championships and being elected to the Fantasy Hall of Fame was really just the icing on the cake for me. Last season I really felt like I was able to back away a little and give the reigns to Creel and we made it to the final four in his best season ever. I just want to concentrate on running the league and I feel like this is becoming harder and harder and still run a team.

I would like to thank Will Spencer for giving the opportunity to play the game of Fantasy Football. I would like to thank Jacob Jordan for being the best rival he could be and basically laying down in nearly every game. I would also like to thank him for the 2007 Championship, my second ring.

I played the game the best I could play it, I tried to enhance the game itself and will continue to do for DOL as long as I am allowed to be your League Manager.

NEW LOGO:

Creel-Hath released it's new merger logo for the 2013 season right on the heels of Hathaway's planned retirement from team ownership.

DOLHALLOFFAME.COM

Hathaway has announced there will be a new section of the website that will catalog all used team names throughout the years. Allowing for easy viewing so as not to break Rule III.

Jordan finally gets on Crushmore

The controversial multi-billion dollar Mount Crushmore re-facing project has finally come to a close. Jacob Jordan finally received his likeness on the famous mountain as the Founding Fathers now grace the rock.

DOL AUCTION A SUCCESS

The DOL Auction for charity was a success. Although some controversy arose as Jacob Jordan's empty trophy case was sold to the highest bidder despite his un-willingness to sell. Hathaway was quoted as saying "oops, owell it's not like he needs it anyway."

Other items sold at the auction:

The knife which Troy Jordan and Ashton Jernigan stabbed Taf in the back with during the 2011 season, costing Taf his 2nd Championship.

The actual cell phone used by Hank Hullett during his 2009-2011 drafts. This phone was made famous for causing multiple "pausing" during the drafts.

The actual dry erase board used during the 2003 season.

Weston's 2009 championship team logo. Anticipation grew as Weston waited till the last second to release his team picture... it was a disaster as everyone was let down and the logo was horrible, not worthy of his championship team.

The undies used during the 2012 celebration party as Hathaway rolled past rival Jordan 114-93 in 2011.

In a very controversial series of events, just hours after Jordan retracted his trophy case from being sold...it was sold. It was also stated that the amount of pledge and washcloths was deducted from the total $20 of the end price as the dust collected was quoted as being "out of control."

The mysterious Spinning Wheel that Jim Waters used from 2005-2010 to name his team. Waters holds 5 Worst Team Name Awards.

In what was the lowest priced item, a mis-printed 2012 championship shirt that is a very rare find as the rest were sent to Ethiopia. Big Westicles finished as the runner-up in 2012.

A Game-Worn 2012 Nelson Knowles V-Neck. This was worn during his 2012 Quarter-Final loss against the Cucamonga Cracka Killas.
